-Radalss, March 25, 2019 Amazing game!! -Medi[ra], March 25, 2019 I have played this game at E3 2019 from the fan site and I was in love with the graphics and gameplay, I got the game yesterday and I am now in love more. -Arpero, March 25, 2019 I am afraid that these Vlambeer games only started to please me as I grow older. I started with Soma and Radial Island. Last year I got to play with Nuclear Throne and this year I get to play with Elden Ring. I never thought the feeling of joy I felt in Radial Island or Soma would ever be the same as this. I am still discovering new things with Elden Ring and I am hoping Vlambeer continues to produce more of these wonderful games. -Zucchi, March 25, 2019 I am playing this game with a friend and I realized I had never played a game that is similar to this before. I liked the game a lot and it has everything a game needs to call it one that you can play. I hope Vlambeer continues to produce more such games. -Lirou, March 25, 2019 I have been waiting for Elden Ring, and it was worth it. I love the art style, the music, and the gameplay. The combat system is really well designed and the many options and strategies to fight require you to be skillful. Each variation has its own set of strengths and weaknesses; you really have to know each of the enemies and adapt your skills to each situation. The game plays dynamically and keeps the adrenaline levels high even when it's not fast paced, like you expect in other RPGs. There are many, many secrets. There is no mandatory backtracking, you really have to go around. There are unlockables that you can find on every level. The story is quite short, but feels full. The story is told with interesting dialogues between the people, along with a good musical score. In my opinion, Elden Ring is one of the best action RPGs I've ever played. -Soriano, March 25, 2019 Once again Vlambeer continues to confirm his role as one of the industry's most outstanding creators. What strikes me in particular is the artistic quality of this game. Everything is well done, from the bff6bb2d33

Q: MongoDB return all results in the specified direction I am new to MongoDB and I have a document like this: { date = '2014-11-11T14:02:00.000Z', timestamp = '1418414815', embed = { ... } } I would like to know whether I can do so that the query returns all documents that are equal to date, if that is known or all documents that are older than the date. I tried this: db.find({'date': '2014-11-11T14:02:00.000Z'}); How could I achieve it? A: You can use the $or operator to specify the conditions to query the data : db.collectionName.find({ $or: [{'date': {'$gte': '2014-11-11T14:02:00.000Z'}}] }) This is how Machine Learning is using IoT - ishitmalik_009 ====== w8rbt Great write up! The 'IoT' part of it is very vague, it should either be as specific as 'Z-Wave' or as generic as 'Home Automation' (or 'Home Automation Protocol'). USS Gloucester (1798) USS Gloucester (1798) was the first ship of the United States Navy to be named after the American Revolution's ship HMS Gloucester, in which Richard Howe, then commander of the British Royal Navy, died in 1777. In the American service, the vessel was originally a storeship, but later a warship. Building and early career In the late 1790s,

A: First, the polynomials a,b,c,d should not all be positive. This is a constraint on the coefficients of x_0, x_1, etc. that you need to include on your search space. You'll probably have to work backwards from the factorization in the equation. Let $f(x_0,\ldots,x_6) = x_0+ax_1+bx_2+ax_3+cx_4+ax_5+dx_6$. Substitute the equation into itself and factor out x_0. The result will be of the form $f(x_1,x_2,x_3,x_4,x_5,x_6) = h(x_1,x_2,x_3,x_4,x_5,x_6) g(x_0)$ where the polynomial g is non-zero. This factorization says $f = f_1 g f_2$ where $f_1 = x_0 + \text{something}$ and $f_2 = x_1 + \text{something else}$. This is the same as saying $f = f_1 + f_2 = (x_0 + \text{something}) + (x_1 + \text{something else})$ which says f must be of the form $(x_0 + \text{something}) + (x_1 + \text{something else})$. In particular, $f = ($
